

Northern California HTEC Conference held at Laney College – Nov. 1 & 2

The Northern California Conference was held as a two day event at Laney College. Laney continued the conference theme from our Annual Conference, Supplying the Manufacturing Pipeline – Training the Next Generation. 160 educators, partners and industry participants registered for the event. Take a look at their excellent agenda. Teacher recruitment and teacher training was a major conversation throughout the conference.

These events are free and open to all manufacturing technology educators. All that's required is pre-registration to reserve your seat for the event you wish to attend. Lunch is included. These conferences are excellent opportunities to learn, share and network with teachers and CNC technology providers in your state or region. Online registration and details about the event near you can be found on the HTEC website under Events > HTEC Conferences.

Over 1000 educators and HTEC partners (1044 to be exact) have attended eleven different HTEC conferences so far this year. Here are the remaining two 2013 locations:
